

Senator Bob Oke's LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

26th Legislative District • P.O. Box 40426, Olympia WA 98504-0426 • (360) 786-7650

February 18, 2005

Department of Transportation awards bid for widening Highway 16 from Union Avenue to Jackson Avenue. Crews will break ground in early March. Completion is scheduled for spring 2007 to coincide with the opening of the new Narrows Bridge. A contract was also awarded for the construction of the HOV project from 36th Street to Olympic Drive in Gig Harbor. This project will break ground in early April. These are the second and third projects on Highway 16 from the Olympic Drive interchange in Gig Harbor to the Nalley Valley Viaduct in Tacoma to be paid for out of the 2003 five-cent gas tax increase being collected statewide. The first project, roadway widening from 6th Avenue to Jackson Avenue, was completed recently. Sen. Oke was successful in getting the Legislature to commit $90.5 million from the five-cent gas tax increase for Highway 16 improvements. In the 1999-2001 transportation budget, Sen. Oke won approval of $50 million in statewide gas tax dollars for land acquisition needed for the Narrows Bridge project.

Election Challenge Update

A brief hearing is scheduled for Friday, February 18, during which Judge Bridges is expected to issue a written order clarifying the oral rulings he made on February 4. The Democrat Party has filed a proposed order that includes a ruling that the Republican Party must show which candidate got the alleged illegal votes. Since the secrecy of a person's vote is protected, this ruling would defy all logic. The Republican Party's position is that there were enough counting flaws, administrative errors, illegal votes by felons and votes made under the names of dead people that it is impossible to know who really won. Judge Bridges has said he does not have the power to order a new election, but the law does say a judge has the power to "set aside" the election and declare a different winner. Dino Rossi has said he will not accept being declared the winner and would resign so a new election could be held. If this should happen, Lt. Governor Brad Owen would be acting governor until the results of the new election are certified.

Election Reform Update – New Bills Filed

Senate Bill 5927 – moving the primary election from the third Tuesday in September to the third Tuesday in August. The purpose of this measure is to give county auditors more time to print and mail ballots to overseas voters before the general election.

Senate Bill 5942 – allowing county canvassing boards to recanvass ballots and to recertify results when an apparent discrepancy or inconsistency is brought to the attention of the canvassing board by elections staff, a third party or other individual.

Final Election Reform Task Force meeting in Spokane

Members of the public have been attending the Election Reform Task Force meetings in their area in huge numbers with a clear message that the integrity of our election process needs to be restored. These meetings have provided an important opportunity for citizens to ask questions, share their concerns and frustrations and ask for meaningful reform.

Senate Republicans are urging people to voice their support for the following important reforms:

- Re-registration: Cleaning the voter rolls to remove the felons, non-citizens and graveyard residents from the voter rolls.
- Identification: Asking voters to prove their identity before casting their vote.
- Reconciliation: Requiring the number of ballots that go out match the number coming in.
- Standardization: Creating statewide rules for administering provisional ballots and verifying absentee signatures so everyone's votes are treated equally in every county.
- Military voter accommodation: Allowing military voters to begin voting one week after filing and making sure they are aware of their voting rights.

The final meeting is scheduled in Spokane – 6-8 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 22, Spokane Community College Lair Student Center. If you would like to submit your comments and/or ideas on-line, please visit:

<http://www.governor.wa.gov/electionreform/form.htm>

Budget Tidbits...just the facts

Contracting Out: ensuring state services are provided at the best value for taxpayers. For more information, go to www.src.wa.gov and click on "Budget Tidbits...just the facts, 6th Edition."

AGENDA FOR WASHINGTON 2005

Washington State House & Senate Republicans: Moving Washington Forward

Health Savings Accounts – a less expensive alternative to traditional health care coverage

The state is currently facing an 11 percent annual inflation cost of government-paid health care. The skyrocketing cost of health care coverage contributed to the state's revenue shortfall in the last biennium and is part of the $2.2 billion shortfall projected for the 2005-07 biennium. Senate Bill 5202, co-sponsored by Sen. Oke, proposes Health Savings Accounts for state employees as a less expensive health care coverage option.

Health Savings Accounts (HSAs) were created in 2003 by the federal Medicare Modernization Act. HSAs allow individuals to pay for current health expenses and save for future medical and retiree health expenses on a tax free basis — similar to an IRA. HSAs must include a high-deductible, catastrophic health care plan.

Contributions to an HSA are deductible from a person's income tax obligation and contributions by employers are not taxable to the employee.

for Washington

❖ Senate Bill 5637 is a health care proposal by Democrats that undermines the Senate Republican effort to get Washington back to work by creating more unemployment and punishing employers. Under this measure, large businesses not offering employee health care coverage would have to pay the state a fee to provide health care coverage through the state's Basic Health Plan. This bill has several adverse consequences:

Conservative estimate of cost is $1.6 billion!

When all is said and done, this bill only ensures health care coverage for 18 percent of the state's 850,000 uninsured.

Businesses providing health care coverage for their employees may end up owning the state money for businesses that don't.

It is estimated that as a result of this legislation, 25,500 employees will become unemployed statewide. Those who lose their jobs are likely to be female, poor, minority and less educated.

An ironic twist to this legislation: 3,300 of those who will lose their jobs will also lose their employer-based health care coverage.

This bill and its House version were heard in the respective House and Senate health care committees on Feb. 17.

This bill is being considered by the Senate Health and Long-Term Care Committee.

❖ Senate Bill 5786 is a Democrat proposal that imposes a new property tax on homeowners. It is a permanent regular levy requiring a simple majority vote to pass.

This measure authorizes counties to submit a ballot measure imposing a new property tax of up to 75-cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation to pay for locally negotiated cost-of-living salary increases for teachers. The money could also be used to help pay for extended learning opportunities for students and additional professional development for teachers. The new property tax money would be distributed to the school districts in the county based on each district's enrollment of full-time students.

With Washington's economy still recovering from the post-9/11 recession, it is a bad time to raise taxes on families trying to make ends meet. What's more, Washington voters have already spoken on local property taxes: In 2001, voters limited the growth of regular property taxes imposed by local governments to one percent a year by approving Initiative 747 with a yes vote of 57.5 percent.

SB 5786 also raises the question of equal funding for all K-12 students in the state as required by the superior court ruling that formed the basis of the state's Basic Education Act. Reliance on local levies causes a disparity in funding for schools – especially in rural or property-poor districts. This measure could make the state a target for a lawsuit by districts where the county property tax does not pass.

This bill is in the Senate Early Learning, K-12 and Higher Education Committee.

Bill would separate children and family services from mega-agency DSHS

The Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) was created in 1970 to combine the powers, duties and functions in the then separate departments of public assistance, institutions, veterans' rehabilitation council and vocational rehabilitation. Over the years, the types of services DSHS provides has changed and expanded. In 1981, the Department of Corrections was created, taking those functions out of DSHS. In 1989, the same steps were taken to create a separate Department of Health.

Last year, the Children's Administration within DSHS was hit hard by a poor ranking in a federal review. In November 2004, two babies were found dead of starvation – there neglectful situation having been reported several times to DSHS. A lawsuit on behalf of all former and current foster children under the responsibility of DSHS is being settled through an agreement that requires more individualized and appropriate services.

Senate Bill 5872, co-sponsored by Sen. Oke, removes the responsibilities of the Children's Administration and Juvenile Rehabilitation Administration from DSHS and places them under a new, separate Department of Family and Children's Services. Supporters of the measure believe the mission of these two departments, the safety and well-being of children, is being compromised by the size and complexity of DSHS.

This bill was given a public hearing in the Senate Human Services and Corrections Committee on Thursday, Feb. 17.

Veterans of Operation Iraqi Freedom and Operating Enduring Freedom are made eligible for certain state benefits under Senate Bill 5112

Over the years, veterans of contemporary periods of war have been added to the list of eligible veterans to receive tuition and fee waivers at state colleges and to earn service credits for military service toward state retirement. This measure, co-sponsored by Sen. Oke, adds residents of Washington with service in Iraq. This bill is on the Senate calendar awaiting a full Senate vote.

Advertising billing scam floods Attorney Generals' Consumer Resource Center

More than 50 people have made complaints to the Seattle-based Consumer Resource Center claiming they received a bill for $399 from a business they have never heard of. Businesses ranging from apartment rentals to transportation services received bills from an outfit claiming to be a Seattle directory service, with many receiving multiple bills demanding payment from a company they could not reach to refute the bills. So far no one has reported paying the invoices. Consumers who receive bills for products or services they did not order are encouraged to file a complaint with the Attorney General's office at 1-800-551-4636.

Legislative toll free hotline: 1-800-562-6000

TTY: 1-800-635-9993

Senate Republican Web site: www.src.wa.gov

Legislature's Web site: <http://www1.leg.wa.gov/legislature>